

Arial 10

An appointment to the Resident Scientific Staff is made with the expectation that the individual will work for the Institution on a full-time, year-round basis. Any change in this status results in review of the individual's appointment. A joint appointment with an educational institution which requires no more than one-sixth of the individual's time on an annual basis to be devoted to the other institution will not, per se, be deemed to be cessation of full-time, year-round employment at the Institution. A member of the Resident Scientific Staff shall not hold a tenured position at another institution.

Helvetica 10

An appointment to the Resident Scientific Staff is made with the expectation that the individual will work for the Institution on a full-time, year-round basis. Any change in this status results in review of the individual's appointment. A joint appointment with an educational institution which requires no more than one-sixth of the individual's time on an annual basis to be devoted to the other institution will not, per se, be deemed to be cessation of full-time, year-round employment at the Institution. A member of the Resident Scientific Staff shall not hold a tenured position at another institution.

Palatino 10

An appointment to the Resident Scientific Staff is made with the expectation that the individual will work for the Institution on a full-time, year-round basis. Any change in this status results in review of the individual's appointment. A joint appointment with an educational institution which requires no more than one-sixth of the individual's time on an annual basis to be devoted to the other institution will not, per se, be deemed to be cessation of full-time, year-round employment at the Institution. A member of the Resident Scientific Staff shall not hold a tenured position at another institution.

----- "Computer Modern" - still a failure!
-----
-----
-----
-----
-----

Georgia 10

An appointment to the Resident Scientific Staff is made with the expectation that the individual will work for the Institution on a full-time, year-round basis. Any change in this status results in review of the individual's appointment. A joint appointment with an educational institution which requires no more than one-sixth of the individual's time on an annual basis to be devoted to the other institution will not, per se, be deemed to be cessation of full-time, year-round employment at the Institution. A member of the Resident Scientific Staff shall not hold a tenured position at another institution.