Follow guide Phil Kyle to the Cape's birdiest spots! Phil is a naturalist, teacher and past President of the Cape Cod Bird Club, who has 45 years of experience. Whether you are a new or experienced birder, bring your enthusiasm and binoculars. $12 members/$15 nm

A Love Affair: Ospreys and Cape Cod

Friday, March 15th, 6 pm – 7 pm

Ospreys are thriving on Cape Cod and our volunteer citizen scientists have fallen in love with these magnificent birds. Discover some of the amazing feats and milestones of our Cape Cod Ospreys. Perhaps you'll be inspired to adopt a nest and watch these devoted parents! Free!

Tree and Bird ID In Winter at Ashumet Holly

Saturday, March 16th, 10 am – 11:30 am

Unravel the mystery of recognizing trees without the clue of leaves. Winter is an ideal time to study bark, branching and bud patterns which help identify dormant trees. How are northern trees adapted to life in the cold?

Meet at Ashumet Holly Wildlife Sanctuary, East Falmouth $6 for members/ $8 for non-members

So You Think You Can Dance?

Thursday, March 28th, 5:45 pm – 7:30 pm

The American Woodcock struts, spirals into the sky, hovers whirring and twittering, then zigzags down to where he started and begins again. Hopefully, the wild gyrations of this odd-looking shorebird will impress the female judges. Come watch the reclusive woodcock make a spectacle of himself during his twilight courtship dance at Long Pasture. $6 members/$8 nm

Saving The Bald Eagle

Saturday, March 30th, 11 am – 12 pm

Join Thomas French, Ph.D., the Director of the Natural Heritage and Endangered Species Program for the MA Division of Fish and Wildlife for a beautifully illustrated history of Bald Eagle restoration efforts and many successes that have followed. $6 members/$8 nm

Salamanders and Swallows?

Saturday, March 30th, 11 am – 12:30 pm

Explore the amphibian and the avian at Ashumet, searching vernal pools for egg masses and breeding creatures and open space for returning swallows.

Ashumet Holly Wildlife Sanctuary, East Falmouth, $6 for members/ $8 for non-members
