

EXPLORE OCEAN SCIENCE

Woods Hole
Oceanographic
INSTITUTION

Semester AT WHOI

Semester at WHOI (SAW) is an undergraduate residential “study-away” opportunity at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Woods Hole, MA, on Cape Cod.

Rolling admissions - apply now for Fall 2020 (deadline April 15). Tuition assistance is available.

Learn more: whoi.edu/semester-at-who
Contact: education@whoi.edu

Will you be a junior or senior next year studying Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Geophysics, Oceanography, Meteorology, Mathematics, Physics or Engineering?

Are you looking for in-depth research experience in ocean science or engineering?

Spend a semester at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution and see what the ocean has to teach you.

- » Immerse yourself in a semester-long independent research project directly advised by a WHOI scientist or engineer.
- » Take on new challenges in upper-level undergraduate/graduate ocean science courses.
- » Surround yourself with WHOI’s cutting-edge laboratories and research groups motivated to address some of the most pressing issues of our time.

